Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. Although in its current state the Abstract might be proper, by submission of the instant claims, Applicant is purporting that the details of the image processor, as claimed, is new in the art. No mention of the image processor or that which is claimed appears in the current Abstract. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1, 3-6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. A single means claim, i.e., where a means recitation does not appear in combination with another recited element of means, is subject to an undue breadth rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. In re Hyatt, 708 F.2d 712, 714-715, 218 USPQ 195, 197 (Fed. Cir. 1983). MPEP 2164.08(a).

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claim 5 recites that the adjusting means “calculates the amount of color elements”.

Notwithstanding the fact that it is not clear what a “color element” is (a pixel perhaps?), the specification discloses a color element calculation section for “calculating the amount of haemoglobin” (note page 57, third full paragraph, for example). This calculation is disclosed as involving intensity of the signal, not the number of color elements (page 58 for example). No link between the number of color elements and the amount of haemoglobin is provided.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As to claim 5, “color elements” lacks antecedent basis.

As to claim 6, “said generating means” lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 1-4 and 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kurashige et al. (U.S. Pat. 2002/0063788).

Kurashige et al. disclose an image processing device comprising an adjusting means for adjusting the gain of a prescribed color signal (note 305R,305G,305B, Fig.2, and [0064]). As to claims 2 and 6, note S_b ([0071]). As to claims 3, 4 and 9-12, note paragraph [0064] which teaches amplification and attenuation of the color signals by amounts (-3dB to 18+ dB) that fall within the claimed percentage ranges. As to claims 7 and 8, note inputted information from microcomputer (control section) for control of the adjusting means ([0065]).

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Gurley et al. (U.S. Pat. 5,644,360)—note adjusting means as claimed in at least claim 1.

Haruki et al. (U.S. Pat. 5,555,022)—note adjusting means as claimed in at least claim 1.

Nishioka et al. (U.S. Pat. 4,831,437)-- note adjusting means as claimed in at least claim 1.

Imaizumi et al. (U.S. Pat. 6,293,911)—note col.9, lines 56-62.

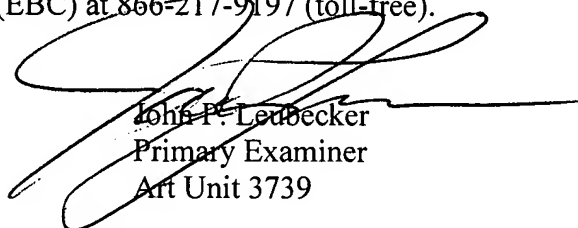

Hsieh (US 2002/0122120)—note [0018].

Nakano et al. (US 2004/0046884)—note claim 8.
